

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to attempt to discredit Kerry is against the law and also is damaging to the concept of democracy which by definition needs to have a free press. It has always been frightening that a few corporations control what is generally known by the public. Their decision to attempt to influence this very important election is a beginning of the fall of democracy.